Share a nice act of your child at home once a week.

See why parents love Class123

It's a great communication tool for my child who just moved to a new school!

I talk to my child more and we feel so much closer!

Getting encouraged on Class123 helped my kid's self esteem issue. She is more confident and happy.

With 'Home wows' My child is more active in helping out at home.
